

NEW BRUNSWICK ABORIGINAL PEOPLES COUNCIL

MEMBERSHIP HANDBOOK AND GUIDE

Updated March 2014

This guide was produced for the Community Locals, their Membership Clerks and the New Brunswick Aboriginal Peoples Council Membership Committee

The Membership Handbook and Guide is a joint effort of the New Brunswick Aboriginal Peoples Council and the Department of Indian Affairs Office of the Interlocutor.

MEMBERSHIP HANDBOOK

The New Brunswick Aboriginal Peoples Council Membership Handbook and Guide is a joint effort of the NBAPC Membership Committee, the Executive and Board of Directors, the NBAPC Membership Clerk, and the NBAPC Community Locals. It is a result of the “Enhancement of Membership System I, II” projects funded by the Department of Indian and Northern Affairs Canada: Office of the Interlocutor.

The purpose of the Handbook is to ensure that the policies and procedures regarding full membership in the New Brunswick Aboriginal Peoples Council are without prejudice and followed by everyone involved in the membership process from the Community Locals to the NBAPC Membership Clerk and the NBAPC Membership Committee who reviews the applications and makes the final recommendations for approval to the Board of Directors of the New Brunswick Aboriginal Peoples Council.

The Handbook will be used as a guide at the Community Local level by the Community Local membership clerk or the person responsible for membership.

The Community Locals will refer the potential full members after they have been accepted into their community. Each local should have a Membership Clerk or person who will take on the role of the Community Local Membership Clerk. He/she can assist the applicant to fill out the application form correctly and verify that all the appropriate original documents are included in the application before it is sent to the Council. He/She may also be able to assist the potential member with his or her genealogical research and/or give them some direction in finding the appropriate documents.

There are resources available in some community libraries, church records, genealogy groups, and of course the internet. The New Brunswick Archives located at the University of New Brunswick in Fredericton, NB has some information available online through your local library, and the locals all have a copy of the information presented at the Genealogy workshops held at the NB Archives for the Community Local Membership Clerks.

All information submitted with your application from the NB Archives must be date stamped and certified.

Application for Full Membership with the New Brunswick Aboriginal Peoples Council

The Membership Clerk must ensure that the application was date stamped upon receipt, signed by the applicant or parent/guardian, and the local executive. The application must have the name and number of the NBAPC Local that is accepting this individual as a full member once their application is approved.

APPLICATION FORM

This form should be filled out by the person applying for full membership in NBAPC unless he/she is under the age of 16.

A. Side 1 Personal Information:

This section includes the complete name and address of the applicant. The name on the application is the name that will go on the Membership Card. This information is used to send out the “Mal-I-Mic News” and all correspondence will go to this address. The parent or guardian must include the age of the applicant in the box in the upper right hand corner if the applicant is under 16 years old. If the applicant is under 16 years of age the application is signed by the parent/guardian.

B. Family Information:

Should include the names, ages, gender and last grade completed of all their children whether dependant or not.

C. Side 2 Genealogical Chart:

The genealogical chart traces only one Aboriginal line to a person who was a known Aboriginal since July 1, 1867.

The applicant is the 1st Generation

The person on the front of the green application form is the person who is applying for membership. This is the 1st generation whether the application is for a minor or not. The full name that will go on the membership card is the name of the applicant and will be the name on the first line.

Maiden name: if applicable there must be proof of a name change ie. Marriage certificate
Birth date: day, month and year. This must be the same as on the birth records because it also goes on the membership card as day, month and year.

Birth place: Where the applicant was born needs to be the same as indicated on the birth record.

Parent 2nd Generation

This must be one of the parents, either the mother or the father. (This is where some people get off track and list ancestors from both mother and fathers sides.) The genealogy chart chooses one side to trace only. Proceed the same as with the first generation, checking to see that all the supporting documents are included. All of the next 5 generations are done the same way.

Note: Stop at the known Aboriginal person on or before the July 1, 1867 cut-off date.

Grandparents 3rd Generation to 7th Generation

If the applicant is tracing the Aboriginal Ancestor back to the July 1, 1867 cut off date each generation box is filled out the same way and all the certified documents must be included with the application. The NBAPC Membership Clerk will make copies of all original documents, stamp them with the Membership Stamp, date and initial each copy. The application and its documents are place in an orange folder and put in a location designated for files that are ready to go to the next NBAPC Membership Committee meeting. The original documents are then returned to the applicant or the Community Local Membership Clerk who submitted them with the applications.

The following documentation is acceptable when applying for Membership;

- Status cards
- Birth records
- Baptismal
- Clan records
- Church records
- Certified genealogies
- Census records
