May your hands be cleansed, that they create beautiful things.
May your feet be cleansed, that they might take you where you most need to be.
May your heart be cleansed, that you might hear its messages clearly.
May your throat be cleansed, that you might speak rightly when words are needed.
May your eyes be cleansed, that you might see the signs and wonders of the world.
May this person and space be washed clean by the smoke of these fragrant plants.
And may that same smoke carry our prayers, spiraling, to the heavens.

New Staff

Molly McIntyre - LOFEO Project Manager

My name is Molly McIntyre and I recently joined the Looking Out For Each Other team as Project Manager while Luisa is on leave. I wanted to take a moment to introduce myself and express how excited I am to be joining this project.

I graduated from St. Thomas University in 2017 with a double major in Human Rights and Sociology. After graduation, I worked as a Behavioral Interventionist for Autism Intervention Services. Working with children who had disabilities inspired me to learn and advocate for vulnerable communities. In 2019, I went back to St. Thomas University where I completed my Bachelor of Education. I graduated in 2020 and moved to Labrador City where I taught high school resource. During this time, I created and implemented educational plans to help students that were struggling graduate. I also helped families of students with high needs and advocated for their rights within the school system.

I believe my experience working with vulnerable communities will make me a great asset to this project and I look forward to learning and growing with the Looking Out For Each Other Project.

April Update - 2023

LOFEO’s Project Manager While Luisa is on Leave:

LOFEO welcomes Molly McIntyre to the team as Project Manager. Molly graduated from St. Thomas University in 2017 with a double major in Human Rights and Sociology. After graduation, she worked as a Behavioral Interventionist for Autism Intervention Services. Working with children who had disabilities inspired her to learn and advocate for vulnerable communities. In 2019, she went back to St. Thomas University and completed her Bachelor of Education. After graduating in 2020, Molly moved to Labrador City where she taught high school resource. During this time, Molly created and implemented educational plans to help students that were struggling to graduate. She also helped families of students with high needs and advocated for their rights within the school system.

Advisory Circle Update

Members of the Advisory Circle will meet on July 8th, 2023, in Fredericton, NB. During this meeting there will be an introduction of the new Project Manager as well as an update and discussion on current projects.

Current LOFEO Project Updates:

• Community Engagement:

LOFEO is continuing to reach out to partnering organizations to participate in various community outreach activities. The goal of these activities is to bring awareness about the LOFEO Project as well as provide resources to community members, make connections with various organizations and spark discussions on gender-based violence. If you would like to participate in any event or collaboration, please email us at lofeo@nbapc.org.

• Helpline:

The helpline phone number is 1-833-MMI-FIND, this is a 24 hour a day, 7 day a week service for all Indigenous community members to access across the province of New Brunswick.

• NBAPC MMIWG2S+ Action Plan:

LOFEO is currently looking to gather data from Indigenous people off and on reserve in New Brunswick with the purpose to create a NBAPC MMIWG2S+ Action Plan to end violence against Indigenous women, girls and 2SLGBTQQIA+ people. LOFEO has created a questionnaire with the hopes to get the public’s perspective on their experience with the topic of MMIWG2S+. The questionnaire can be found on the NBAPC website: https://nbapc.org/ActionPlan/
• Guidelines for Families, friends, and communities of MMIWG2S to reach out to the media:

The LOFEO collaborated with journalism professors from the University of King’s College to develop Guidelines for Families to Navigate the Media. These guidelines emphasize the importance of accuracy, fairness, and independence, which are the core principals of journalistic ethics and standards across Canada. The hope of these guidelines will help journalists be more mindful of their process and the impact they have on families and result in accurate, human-centered stories gathered in a responsible way. The LOFEO has printed these guidelines and made them into a small booklet. These booklets will be shared with LOFEO’s partnering organizations and community members.

• Sharing Circles:

LOFEO has been working on starting some Sharing Circles alongside Torey Solomon from Sexual Violence New Brunswick (SVNB) and Brandy Parr from St. Mary’s Memorial Health Centre. As a team, we are working to put Sharing Circles together to bring light to the issues Indigenous women and girls face with Gender-based violence and find a way to support each other and heal.

• Spotlight on:

• Gignoo Transition House:

The objective of Gignoo Transition House is to provide support to all First Nation women and children who are survivors of domestic violence; be it physical, sexual, emotional, mental, spiritual, and financial. All programs and services are provided in the context of cultural beliefs and values to ensure a holistic approach is used as part of their healing journey.

LOFEO wants to thank Gignoo Transition House for continued work supporting Indigenous women and operating the LOFEO Helpline.

Bill creating reconciliation council ignores Indigenous voices

The Liberals' failure to adopt a House committee's recommendation to include the Congress of Aboriginal Peoples on the national council is a disrespectful political attack that triggers trauma for Indigenous peoples who have experienced social exclusion because of government policy.

Reconciliation has become a watered-down, politicized term at the hands of the Liberal government. It's been turned into a symbolic word meant to calm Indigenous unrest, while the government plays politics by excluding hundreds of thousands of Indigenous peoples from reconciliation efforts and pitting national Indigenous organizations against each other.

The Government of Canada recently decided to continue excluding the Congress of Aboriginal Peoples (CAP) from Bill C-29 when it reached third reading in the House of Commons in December 2022. Bill C-29 recognizes the Truth and Reconciliation Commission's call to establish a National Council for Reconciliation. This unexpected exclusion came after a House Indigenous and Northern Affairs Committee report in November 2022 recommended that the Congress of Aboriginal Peoples should have a seat on the council. Now, the bill is at second reading in the Senate, among the last steps before becoming law.

Failing to adopt that recommendation is not only an unprecedented and disrespectful political attack, it also triggers extreme trauma for Indigenous peoples who have experienced generational abuse and social exclusion because of government policy. It is a direct attack against off-reserve status and non-status Indigenous, Métis, and Southern Labrador Inuit voices, which comprise over 50 per cent of Canada’s Indigenous population.
By intentionally removing CAP from Bill C-29, the Government of Canada has decided that off-reserve status and non-status Indigenous, Métis, and Southern Labrador Inuit voices are second class to those on reserves. This exclusion also goes against the Truth and Reconciliation Commission’s Calls to Action 8-10. These calls to action repeatedly emphasize the need to include off-reserve Indigenous voices in reconciliation.

For many urban Indigenous peoples, reconciliation begins at the doctor’s office where far too many have to fight for Non-Insured Health Benefits rights. It begins at school, where Native Studies is often taught by a non-Indigenous person without the knowledge of our rich histories. It’s needed on city streets, where far too many Indigenous people struggle to find affordable housing. Reconciliation is needed between the police and the justice system that has incarcerated a shocking number of our people. But most importantly, reconciliation is needed for the thousands of residential school survivors, 60’s scoop children, and families of missing and murdered Indigenous women and girls.

Far too many politicians use the term ‘reconciliation’ as leverage while ignoring the realities Indigenous people face. Making things better simply means equality. The equal right to health care, clean drinking water, justice, and education. It means not having to explain our traditions and cultures after thousands of years of protecting our lands. In a country like Canada, those rights shouldn’t be debated in the House of Commons and the Senate.

CAP must be included in Bill C-29 with a guaranteed seat as part of the national council to ensure Canada follows through on its promise of reconciliation. By excluding over 50 per cent of Canada’s Indigenous voices, the government diminishes reconciliation into a symbolic gesture rather than tangible action.

All Indigenous peoples in Canada should be treated with respect, dignity, integrity, equality, and they should be able to expect a high quality of life founded on the rebuilding of their nations. Reconciliation begins with inclusion, not exclusion.

Elmer St. Pierre is the national chief of the Congress of Aboriginal Peoples. Before his election as CAP national chief in October 2020, he served as vice chief of the Ontario Coalition of Indigenous Peoples from 2006-2019, when he was elected chief.
